RELIigious Studies

Aims and Objectives

1. The syllabus aims to develop a sympathetic understanding of the nature and significance of religion through the study of the Bible (and in Section B, through Christian traditions).

2. Candidates should be able to
   (a) appreciate the significance of facts and related ideas found in the passages they study, both in their own setting and in their relevance for today.
   (b) relate the religious beliefs and practices they study to their place and importance in modern society.
   (c) appreciate the part religious belief can play in both personal and public life.

3. In the context of the examination, candidates should be able to deal constructively and creatively with the source material which they are permitted to use in following the “open-book” format. (The principal aim in using an “open-book” format is to discourage candidates from preparing for the examination by memorizing texts.)

The Examination

1. There will be one paper of 2½ hours. It will be divided into the following two sections with a 45-minute break in between:
   SECTION A - The Fulfilment of God’s Promises in the Life of Jesus the Christ (1½ hour)
   SECTION B - Personal and Social Problems (1 hour)

2. There will be no compulsory questions.

3. Candidates will be required to answer five questions, three chosen from Section A and two chosen from Section B. Each question carries 20% of the marks.

4. In Section A candidates will be required to answer three out of five questions.

5. In Section B candidates will be required to answer two out of four questions.

6. Questions will be based entirely on the set texts, but candidates will be given credit for material based on other passages provided that they are able to show the relevance of such material.

7. The examination will follow an “open-book” format. Candidates will be permitted to bring authorized copies of the Bible into the examination†.

ANNEX I

INTRODUCTION

Section B deals with attitudes and behaviour in response to commonly met personal and social problems. Generally speaking the guiding principles for Christian behaviour (Christian ethics) derive from biblical teaching from both Old and New Testaments.

1. Old Testament morality is distinctively theological based upon the being and character of a personal God and an objective moral order which proceeds from his will (Deuteronomy 5:1-6:5)

   Motives for Old Testament Morality:
   (i) love to God as a response to his love and gratitude for his care (Deuteronomy 7:7-11, 11:1-13)
   (ii) likeness to God in holiness (Leviticus 11:44-45, 20:26) and in just impartiality (Deuteronomy 10:12-22)
   (iii) love for one’s neighbour (Leviticus 19:18) and consideration for all (Deuteronomy 10:18-20, 22:8, 24:6, 10-15)

2. New Testament morality presupposes the Old Testament teaching (e.g. little is said about social righteousness because it has already been dealt with by the prophets) and is also based upon the character, work and teaching of Jesus Christ

   (i) the moral teaching of Jesus is based on the Old Testament teaching (Matthew 5:17-20) expects moral likeness to God (Matthew 5:43-48) and emphasises love to God and to neighbour as the essence of all morality (Mark 12:29-31)

   (ii) the moral teaching of the apostles is related to what God is and what Christ has done, (Romans 12:1-2, 13:1-5, 1 Peter 1:17-19, 2:21-23) demands moral likeness to God, (Ephesians 5:1-5; 1 Peter 1:14-16) and is motivated by the desire to please God (Colossians 1:9-10; 1 Thessalonians 4:1-3) and by the Christian’s view of the future (Titus 2:11-14; 1 Peter 1:13-15, 4:2-5, 2 Peter 3:10-11, 14)

ANNEX II

Instructions concerning the use of books in the “open-book” examination:

1. Candidates should bring into the examination centre a copy of one of the approved versions of the whole Bible. The approved versions are listed below in paragraph 7.
2. Candidates, who wish to do so, may bring in two Bibles (or New Testaments) in order to have different language versions or translations.
3. The use of textbooks, commentaries or other reference books will not be permitted during the examination.
4. Apart from the particulars of the owner (e.g. name, class, address), the books used must not have been written in, although candidates may underline the text. They may also write down letters of the alphabet and the names of the books in the Bible. Infringements of these regulations normally incur penalties or disqualification.
5. Candidates are also permitted to mark pages with symbols, paper tags or coloured paper clips but pages should not be clipped together.

2009-CE-REL STUD
6. During the examination, invigilators may examine all copies of the Bible which candidates have brought into the centre. If any unauthorized material is found candidates will be allowed to continue but once the examination is over, the books concerned will have to be handed to the centre supervisor for inspection. It will later be decided whether the regulations have been broken and whether the candidate should be disqualified or suffer some other penalty.

7. The approved versions of the Bible are as follows:
   - Good News Bible/Today’s English Version/Good News for Modern Man (N.T.)/Good News Bible (illustrated)
   - Good News Bible with Deuterocanonicals/Apocrypha
   - Sunrise Good News Bible
   - Revised Standard Version
   - New Revised Standard Version
   - The Jerusalem Bible
   - The New Jerusalem Bible
   - The Knox Version
   - New American Standard Version
   - New International Version
   - Gideons International bilingual edition of the New Testament (Kuoyu and Revised Version)

Notes:
1. Booklets containing individual books from the Bible in the versions mentioned above are acceptable, as are bilingual combinations of these versions.

   If schools wish to use versions that are not listed, they should write to seek permission from:
   - The Secretary General
   - (Attention: HSE)
   - Hong Kong Examinations and Assessment Authority
   - Southorn Centre, 12/F
   - 130 Hennessy Road
   - Wanchai
   - Hong Kong

2009-CE-REL STUD
before 1st December in the year preceding the examination. Private candidates may also seek such permission, and should do so in writing by the same date.

2. * The underlying rational for the inclusion of Bible versions in the approved list is that they are in common use in Hong Kong schools.

* The use of unapproved versions will incur mark penalties.

* The use of versions which are study Bibles, or which contain unauthorised material such as commentaries or handwritten study notes will lead to disqualification from the subject.
